IN THE SPOTLIGHT

Supporting, Engaging & Empowering our Community

Welcome to edition 348. There's plenty happening in our community over the coming weeks! In this edition, we're shining the spotlight on some fantastic local events and opportunities to get involved, connect with others and support our community.

From markets and pre-loved treasures to art, conservation and community celebrations, there's something for everyone.

Keep The Black Cockatoo's Flying - Art Exhibition

There are just a few days left to experience the Ngoolak, Karrak – Keep the Black Cockatoos Flying Art Exhibition, running until 23 September at the Denmark Community Resource Centre Gallery. Celebrating art, culture and conservation, the exhibition shines a light on our precious Forest Red-tailed and White-tailed Black Cockatoos and the importance of protecting them for generations to come.

One Morning, Two Great Events!

Make a morning of it on Sunday 8th November with the Car Boot Sale and Play, Share, Repeat running from 10am–12 noon.

PLAY, SHARE, REPEAT

The kids are growing fast – so why not give their pre-loved clothes and toys another life? Play, Share, Repeat is a Kids Clothing & Toys Market for ages 0–12 years. Book a stall to sell your quality pre-loved goodies or come along to browse for a bargain.

There'll also be Ben's Place hot drinks and pastries, face painting, entertainment and a sausage sizzle. Cash and EFTPOS available.

CAR BOOT SALE

Clear out the cupboards and turn your unwanted treasures into cash at the Car Boot Sale. Car bays are just $20. The sale is also part of the National Garage Sale Trail.

To book your bay or Stall, contact Denmark Community Resource Centre on

Lantern Leader & Bearer-Call Out

Carrying the Fire is looking for Lantern Leaders aged 15 years and over to play a special role in this spectacular community event on 7 November 2026.

You don't need any performance experience,

just enthusiasm, a willingness to get involved and the confidence to help guide others. Lantern Leaders will learn a few simple movements, take part in a short lantern dance and then lead groups of Lantern-bearers along the beach and boardwalk in a magical procession of light.

This is your chance to be more than a spectator — be part of the experience, by registering to become a lantern bearer or leader.

To register to become a Lantern Bearer or Leader follow the link below:
<https://form.jotform.com/260981427265867>

Lantern-making workshops are also coming up during the school holidays! (Page 7)

LANTERN LEADERS

Lantern-bearers will gather along the sand, paths and boardwalk, transforming the foreshore into a breathtaking string of lights and movement: a living, ephemeral artwork captured in footage to be shared worldwide.

Would you like to be part of something truly special?

Imagine standing along Albany's beautiful foreshore, lantern in hand, helping to lead hundreds of people through an unforgettable evening of light, movement and community.

Lantern Leaders will play an important role on the night, acting as the connection between the artistic team and community participants while helping create a safe, vibrant and collaborative experience.

No performance experience is needed! You simply need to feel comfortable with some easy movement and be happy to lead members of the public in a "follow the leader" style procession along the beach or boardwalk.

Each Lantern Leader will be assigned a location where they will perform a short lantern dance, invite Lantern-bearers towards the water and guide them through simple movements as the event unfolds.

What's involved?

Lantern Leaders will participate in:

- One Lantern Making Workshop
- At least one rehearsal – preferably all
- Dress Rehearsal – 6 November
- Performance – 7 November

Participants will need to bring their own mobile phone to workshops, rehearsals and the performance.

There is no cost to participate. All Lantern Leaders will also receive complimentary associate membership to Southern Edge Arts, with no workshop or project fees payable.

If you're aged 15+ and would love to help lead the way in this spectacular community event, this is your chance to carry the fire!

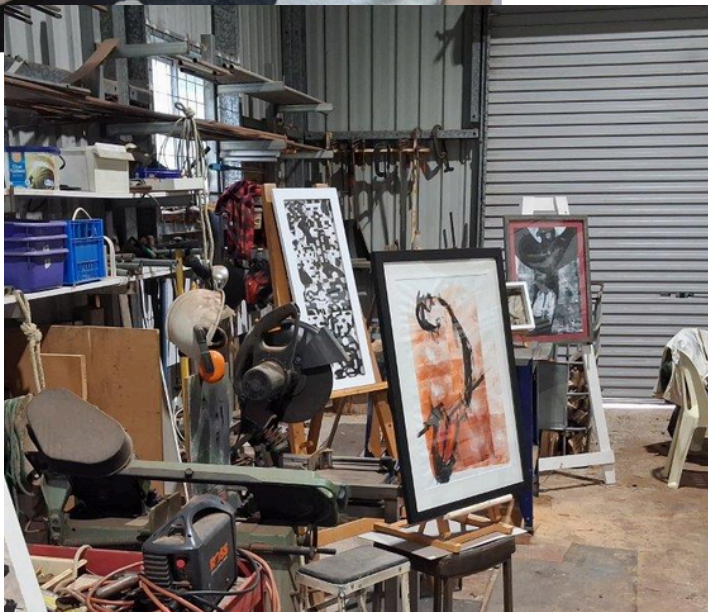

NGOOLAK, KARRAK

Keep the Black Cockatoos Flying

The community is invited to experience Ngoolak, Karrak - Keep the Black Cockatoos Flying, a special art exhibition at the Denmark Community Resource Centre Gallery from 11–23 September 2026.

The exhibition highlights the importance of protecting our Black Cockatoos and features 42 mixed-media works created by Noongar and Wadjella artists following workshops led by renowned eco-fabric artist Jenny Wilson, with guidance from Elder Aunty Carol Pettersen.

ART, CULTURE AND CONSERVATION

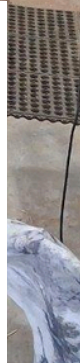

This NAIDOC Activity Arts program has been delivered with support from the National Indigenous Australians Agency, Shire of Plantagenet, Koorabup Trust, Green Skills, Southern Aboriginal Corporation, Femmonics and Denmark Community Resource Centre.

Special thanks also go to Aunty Carol Pettersen, Rhian Thomas of Femmonics, Ruth Maddren, Kirsty and John Anderson and the Denmark Bird Group for their support of the project.

The official opening will be held at 10.30am on Saturday 12 September, featuring songs by Rhian Thomas and the Femmonics choir, along with talks from conservationist Melissa Howe and participating artists.

Following its Denmark exhibition, Ngoolak, Karrak will travel throughout the Great Southern, raising awareness of the challenges facing our Black Cockatoo species and the importance of their long-term survival.

This community arts project is supported by the National Indigenous Australians Agency and a number of local organisations, including Green Skills and Denmark Community Resource Centre. Everyone is welcome and no RSVP is required.

Exhibition: 11–23 September

Opening: Saturday 12 September, 10.30am

Community Hub & Fire Truck Trail
Saturday 31st October 2026 - 9am to 1pm
Location: Strickland Street

Help Build a More Resilient Community

Does your organisation help people prepare for, respond to, recover from, or stay resilient during emergencies? Join us as an exhibitor in the Community Hub during the popular Fire Truck Trail and connect with hundreds of local residents and visitors who want to learn more about staying safe and supporting each other during emergencies.

Why Get Involved?

This nationally recognised event attracts more than 1,000 community members across the weekend and brings together emergency services, volunteer groups, community organisations and local agencies.

Your stall is an opportunity to:

- Showcase the support and services you provide
- Share practical information and resources
- Engage directly with local families and visitors
- Recruit volunteers and new members
- Build relationships with other organisations
- Help people understand their role before, during and after an emergency

Make Your Stall Interactive

We encourage exhibitors to create an engaging experience for attendees. Consider:

- Hands-on activities and demonstrations
- Competitions or prize draws
- Educational displays
- Giveaways and promotional items
- Activities for children and families

The more interactive your display, the more impact you'll have.

Did You Know?

Denmark is one of Western Australia's most bushfire-prone communities, with forests surrounding many homes, businesses and visitor areas.

Being prepared isn't just an individual responsibility. It takes the whole community working together.

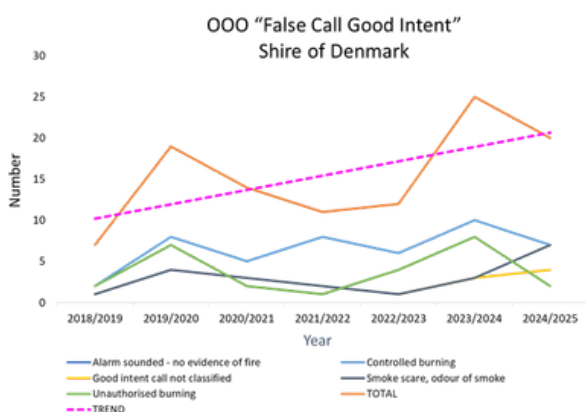

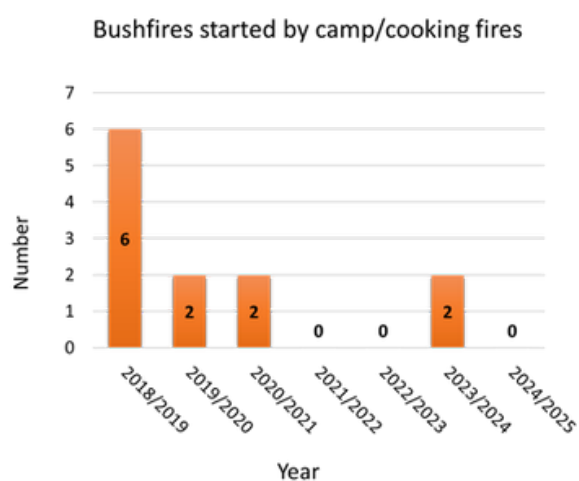

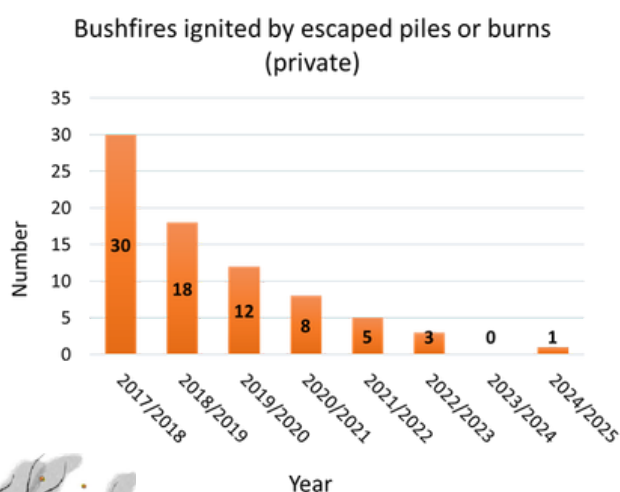

To register your interest or discuss your stall idea, contact:

Petra Thompson on 98482842 or manager@denmarkcrc.com.au Murray Brooker on 0429 094 136 Em Harper on 0417 091 812.

Denmark Bushfire Ready Outcomes

Yes! We measure our results. This is just some of the data we have sourced from Shire of Denmark and DFES. Thank you for contributing to this success, we couldn't do it without you!

CUT. PASTE. DREAM. REPEAT.

We're surrounded by pictures of the future, but most are trying to sell us something.

This hands-on collage workshop is an invitation to reclaim our collective imagination and picture the futures we actually want to live in.

Cut, paste, layer, and create alongside others as we explore what a good life could look like, with more connection, contribution, and care.

No artistic experience required, just a willingness to play and see where your imagination takes you.

To build different futures, we have to be able to picture them. A pair of scissors and a table full of strangers isn't a bad place to start.

WA Country Health Service

HAVE YOUR SAY ON LOCAL HEALTH ISSUES!

Are you passionate about improving health services in your community? We're looking for consumer representatives to share their voice and help shape better health outcomes by joining the Lower Great Southern District Health Advisory Council.

Why get involved?

- Represent the needs and experiences of your community
- Contribute to decisions that impact local health services
- Help create more inclusive, responsive care

Who can apply?

We welcome people from all backgrounds, including:

- Patients, carers, and family members
- Community advocates
- Individuals with lived experience of health services

No formal experience needed — just a willingness to speak up and make a difference.

What's involved?

- Attend meetings
- Provide feedback on services and programs
- Share community perspectives

Make your voice count. Your experience matters.

Together, we can build a healthier future for everyone!

STREET OUTREACH

Palmerston, in partnership with Pioneer Health, is proud to launch a vital new outreach program aimed at supporting Albany's homeless population. Led by a dedicated Comorbidity case worker and a nurse, our team will deliver compassionate, on the ground care where it's needed the most.

Our team will deliver on-the-ground clinical care and harm reduction services with a focus on trust, compassion, and consistency. A comorbidity case worker and a nurse will be out in the community, offering basic health care, harm reduction education, NSP, psychosocial support, and food.

The program aims to bridge the gap between vulnerable individuals and essential care and support they need.

With Senior Regional Officer for the Great Southern, Chadd Williams

Don't forget the receipt

Would you be able to prove you paid for a job if the work wasn't done properly?

Imagine paying a business hundreds of dollars in cash to do an end-of-lease clean only to later realise the job hasn't been done to the standard you expected. You contact the business, but they dispute what was done and say they have no record of the job or your payment.

This is exactly what a consumer who contacted us recently for assistance told us happened - they realised that without a receipt, proving what they paid for was difficult.

Most people think about receipts when buying products or a meal with friends, but they're just as important when paying for services. Whether it's a plumber, electrician, cleaner, landscaper or mechanic, keeping a record of the transaction can save you a lot of stress if something goes wrong.

Under the Australian Consumer Law (ACL), businesses must provide a proof of purchase for transactions over $75, regardless of whether you paid by cash, card or another method.

For purchases under $75, consumers can still request a proof of purchase and the business must provide one within seven days.

A proof of purchase is usually a receipt but can also be: a GST tax invoice, a handwritten receipt or a digital receipt.

A consumer must also be given an itemised bill for services if they ask for one. The business has to give them the bill within 7 days and a consumer has 30 days from receiving the original bill to ask for an itemised version.

It's important to know that consumers who pay cash for a product or service and do not receive a receipt still have rights under the ACL. They should raise the issue with the business in the first instance. If the matter cannot be resolved, they can contact Consumer Protection for advice and assistance.

The best protection is to ask for a proof of purchase at the time of payment, however consumers are also encouraged to keep copies of quotes, texts, emails, bank withdrawal records and any other documents relating to that transaction as proof of purchase should an issue arise.

Consumers should feel comfortable challenging businesses about receipts too. It pays to ask for evidence and question any items you don't understand or don't match with what was originally agreed to. This can be the difference between quickly resolving a dispute and struggling to prove your case.

So the next time you're paying a tradie in cash or tapping for your morning coffee, or utility bill at the post office, asking for proof of purchase is one of the simplest ways to protect yourself.
